WELCOME TO THE 23RD ANNUAL UPTOWN ARTS STROLL

Welcome to NoMAA's 23rd annual Uptown Arts Stroll! The following pages of this guide present an impressive array of arts and culture events that will take place in West Harlem, Washington Heights and Inwood from West 125th Street to West 220th Street every single day during the month of June.

The festivities begin with NoMAA's Opening Event at the wonderful Sugar Hill Museum on Friday, May 30th from 6-8:30. Please join us for a night of music, art, dancing and food while we recognize our inspiring slate of honorees.

Each year NoMAA holds a poster contest to choose a design that becomes the emblem of the Arts Stroll. This year we congratulate Tom Sanford for his winning image – fresh and full-of-life! We also wish to acknowledge the fantastic designs submitted by 2nd place winner Jack Thompson and 3rd place winner Margo Moore.

To all the artists and arts organizations represented in this guide, thank you for so brilliantly reminding the world of the unequivocal importance of art. To our sponsors, partners, friends, and supporters, we are enormously grateful to you for standing up for the arts and standing with the artists and organizations that make up northern Manhattan. Finally, we express our special thanks to NoMAA's board chair and tireless arts advocate Luis A. Miranda Jr., and our dedicated and enthusiastic board members Sandra García-Betancourt, Carol Jenkins, and Lenny Lazzarino.

BIENVENIDOS A LA 23ª EDICIÓN DEL PASEO DE LAS ARTES

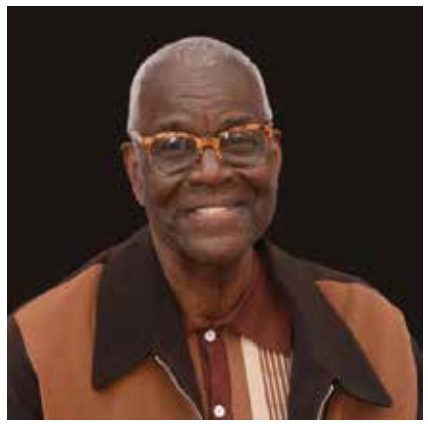

¡Bienvenido al 23º Paseo de las Artes anual de NoMAA! Las siguientes páginas de esta guía presentan una impresionante variedad de eventos artísticos y culturales que se llevarán a cabo todos los días del mes de junio en West Harlem, Washington Heights e Inwood desde West 125th Street hasta West 220th Street.

Las festividades comienzan con el evento de apertura de NoMAA en el maravilloso Museo Sugar Hill el viernes 30 de mayo de 6 a 8:30. Únase a nosotros para una noche de música, arte, baile y comida mientras reconocemos a nuestra inspiradora lista de homenajeados.

Cada año NoMAA realiza un concurso de carteles para elegir un diseño que se convierta en el emblema del Paseo. Este año felicitamos a Tom Sanford por su dinámica imagen ganadora. También deseamos reconocer los fantásticos diseños presentados por el ganador del segundo lugar, Jack Thompson, y la ganadora del tercer lugar, Margo Moore.

A todos los artistas y organizaciones artísticas representados en esta guía, gracias por recordarle tan brillantemente al mundo la importancia inequívoca del arte. A nuestros patrocinadores, socios, amigos y seguidores, les estamos enormemente agradecidos por defender las artes y apoyar a los artistas y organizaciones que conforman el norte de Manhattan. Finalmente, expresamos nuestro agradecimiento especial al presidente de la junta directiva de NoMAA y defensor incansable de las artes, Luis A. Miranda Jr., y a nuestros dedicados y entusiastas miembros de la junta directiva Sandra García-Betancourt, Carol Jenkins y Lenny Lazzarino.

He was nominated for a Grammy with South African musician Hugh Masekela and South African playwright/author and musician Mbongeni Ngema for Sarafina! Carla Torres is a multidisciplinary visual artist whose work spans drawing, painting, illustration, animation, and murals. Originally from Ecuador, she moved to New York City in 2006 to expand her artistic vision. She has exhibited in renowned galleries such as the Queens Museum and the Noguchi Museum and has received prestigious illustration awards in the United States, Canada, and Europe. Torres received the Lower Manhattan Cultural Council Creative Engagement grant three times and was a featured muralist for the HBO Max Latinx Diaspora Campaign.

Daniel Bonilla & Riverside Inwood Neighborhood Garden

Daniel Bonilla, also known as Art Man Dan, is a talented New York City artist of Dominican heritage. As a full-time artist, he embraces a diverse range of projects, including murals, photorealistic paintings, and playful decorative window art. His artistic journey began with a simple idea, leading him through art-based schools and culminating in a degree in illustration and computer animation. Renowned in his community, his portfolio includes lare-scale murals and commissioned pieces. Community-based projects hold special significance for him, as demonstrated by his involvement in the NYC Department of Transportation art project.

The Riverside-Inwood Garden (RING), began as a fleeting thought by Maggie Clarke on the occasion of a 1984 community meeting to determine what should be done with a rubble-strewn lot at 1815 Riverside Drive in Inwood. The lot was turned into an award-winning flower and ornamentals garden by scores of volunteers and has received multiple awards. RING was incorporated in 1991. Art in the Garden is RING's annual late-spring event that showcases local artists, craftspeople, and musicians. The first Art in the Garden took place on June 10, 2001.

Jeff Hoppa & Cornerstone Studios

Jeff Hoppa, Cornerstone's founder and director, holds an MFA in painting from the School of Visual Arts. His drawings and paintings are inspired by natural history museums, deserts, space exploration, the Arctic, and cartography. He was an Artist-in-Residence at Joshua Tree National Park in 2007 and a member of EFA Studios from 2007 to 2014. In 2013, he created Indian Road Shows at Indian Road Café, exhibiting over 50 local artists. Hoppa lives in Washington Heights with his wife and two sons.

Cornerstone Studios, founded in 2015 by artist Jeff Hoppa, is a nonprofit arts organization based in Our Saviour's Atonement Church in Washington Heights. It provides studio space for visual artists in Northern Manhattan while fostering community engagement. Over the past decade, Cornerstone has built a diverse creative community, hosting over 40 artists. In 2019, it launched Studio178, a low-cost, one-year residency supporting immigrant artists, recent MFA graduates, late-career artists, and those facing financial hardship.

Patricia Espinosa, Hourglass

The Hourglass seeks to address the critical issue of water scarcity. The sculpture takes the form of a giant twisted sponge, resembling an hourglass, that symbolizes the diminishing availability of water. It combines both concepts—sponge & hourglass—seeking to visually, and technically, capture the course of water passing through and running out.
